

Welcome at Powercondens, the specialist for condensate.

Since 1999, we have been developing and producing innovative products for the correct treatment of condensate from heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) - thus contributing to the protection of people, the environment and materials. Our products are used all over the world.

To strengthen our team we are looking for a motivated

Vendor

Your tasks:

- Customer care and customer acquisition (national and international)
- Securing the market position and maintaining the brand externally
- Co-development of an effective sales strategy

Our requirements:

- Personality with business knowledge and several years of sales experience, advantageously in the building services sector.
- Confident and cultivated appearance, good communication skills as well as networked and customer-oriented thinking and acting.
- An accurate, reliable and independent way of working

We offer:

- An exciting market environment (HVAC)
- Innovative products for new customer projects
- Short decision-making processes and potential for further development

Have we got your interest? Then we look forward to receiving your application documents at the following address: bewerbung@powercondens.com